Powertone Studios gets under the skin of cellulite with the Vacustyler

However much we try to avoid it, we are all in danger of falling victim to the dreaded orange peel effect. But now there is a new solution that can help reduce the appearance of cellulite without the need for expensive creams and rough abrasion treatments – the Powertone Vacustyler – the only technology of its kind in the UK.

The Powertone Vacustyler is a truly 21st century answer to cellulite. Developed originally by NASA for its astronauts, the Vacustyler has been used across elite studios in Europe to tackle cellulite head on.

After a number of sessions the results are visible for all to see with an improvement in the appearance of cellulite as well as varicose and spider veins.

Although the myths would have us believe that cellulite only affects those who are overweight, it is actually a common skin problem for many of us that is caused by poor circulation and an inactive lifestyle. Fat deposits accumulate near the surface of the skin, causing that dreaded orange peel effect.

The Vacustyler works to reduce cellulite by improving circulation and strengthening connective tissue near the surface of the skin. This allows the fat to be broken down and effectively flushed out through the body's lymphatic system.

Simply lie back and relax with your lower body inside the chamber. The machine then removes atmospheric pressure from the chamber and returns it again in rhythmical cycles, helping blood and oxygen flow around the body.

For optimum results, the Vacustyler should be used twice a week, in conjunction with a Power Plate session. Gentle exercise on the Power Plate will smooth out the appearance of cellulite improving circulation and muscle tone to leave the skin looking and feeling smoother.

The Vacustyler can also be used after a session on the Narl to maximize overall body toning and together with Ionised Air to speed up cell regeneration.

To try out the Vacustyler visit Powertone's Mayfair Studio. Further information is also available at www.powertonestudios.com or call 0800 599 9505.
